Forest Camps to Open for 250,000

First Recruits Will Be Put to Work Within Few Weeks

WASHINGTON—(AP).—Four government department to carry out President's Roosevelt's program for putting 250,000 men to work on forest projects.

Soon after the president signed the bill the War, Interior, Agriculture and Labor Departments arranged for selection of a co-ordinator who will centralize control of the program.

The president is hopeful that the first recruits will be put to work in two or three weeks and that the whole 250,000 will be on duty by midsummer. The first step, recruiting the workers from among the unemployed of the cities, will be begun by the Labor Department in another week. Its telephone jangled throughout the day with requests for information on places to apply for jobs.

To Draft Regulations It will set up registration offices in cities. First, however, regulations will be drawn covering the work to be done, the classes of men who will be enrolled and other elements of the program. The men probably will be paid $30 a month and subsistence.

Army officers completed tentative plans for assembling the men. The War Department will have the responsibility of examining all of those chosen, to determine their physical fitness, of conditioning them and transporting them to the work camps, of which there will be 1,000 or more with from 100 to 200 men in each.

The Forest Service has mapped out thousands of work projects in the national forests but hopes to extend the program on a co-operative basis to include state and privately owned forest lands adjacent to national properties.

Invites Governors Secretary Wallace telegraphed all governors inviting them to send their state foresters or other representatives to a conference here April 8 when possibilities of the co-operative program will be analyzed.

Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department has a staff of work analyzing work potentials in national parks on Indian lands and the public domain, which are under his administration.

All of the potential projects will be brought together for the drafting of a master plan by the co-ordinator, who will determine finally the location of work camps and the number of men to be assigned to each.

Veterans Reduced 400 Millions

Roosevelt Issues Economy Order as of Next July 1st

President Asks Co-Operation Among Nation's Former Soldiers

THE SAME FOR ALL

Every Department of Government, Every Citizen, Affected

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt Saturday ordered reductions in veterans' allowances totaling approximately 400 million dollars.

Using the extraordinary power vested in him by the economy act, the president shortly after 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon signed an order drafted by Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, and Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, who were present at the time of the president's signature.

The reduced rates are effective July 1.

Making public the lowered schedules, the president issued a statement in which he said he did not want "any veteran to feel that he and his comrades are being singled out to make sacrifices."

"On the contrary," continued Mr. Roosevelt, "I want them to know that the regulations being issued are an integral part of our economy program, embracing every department and agency of the government, to which every employee is making his or her contribution."

"I ask them to appreciate that not only does their welfare but also the welfare of every American citizen depend upon the maintenance of the credit of the government; and I ask that they also bear in mind that every citizen in every walk of life is being called upon, directly or otherwise, to share in this reduction."

Money, Not Weight TOLEDO.—One wouldn't believe that a woman could lose 153 pounds and still live. Yet Miss Agnes M. Hamilton, of New York, did in English money. Miss Hamilton was traveling to New York from this city on a bus when she lost the English pounds. They were found and returned to her by R. C. Mauder, truck driver.

X X X Mr. Palmer continues: "I think we should all insist upon a proper study being made of government affairs in every division of Arkansas, and a special session of the legislature should be called to correct conditions."

On the editorial page today you will find an editorial Mr. Palmer wrote—and from which I cut off some paragraphs suggesting a special session.

I'm not sure that the people would welcome even the relatively little expense of a special session from which great benefits might be derived.

On the other hand, his letter pointing to a worth-while change in the law governing the bonding of county officials is a new and forceful plea for a special session.

I give it to you for what it is worth. The taxpayers turned in $43,000 in Bradley county—and it was lost.

100 Checks Out of 700 Approved Loans—Applications 1,000

Approximately 100 loan checks in the total amount of about $7,000 had been received in Hempstead county up to noon Saturday, the Hope federal crop loan office reported.

The local office, headquarters for Hempstead county, has received more than 1,000 applications from county farmers, of which 700 have been approved and certified to the Memphis bureau where final approval is given and checks are issued.

Local approval is made by a voluntary committee of three well known county men, serving without pay. Roy Anderson, Ralph Routon, both of Hope, and Herbert M. Stephens, Jr., of Blevins.

The average local loan finally granted from Memphis is ranged around $70, and with 1,000 applications in, the total loan fund likely to be received here this season is $70,000—with $7,000 already received.

$364,320 for State LITTLE ROCK.—Federal crop production loans to Arkansas farmers totaling $364,320 have been approved by the Federal seed loan office at Memphis. T. Roy Reid, assistant director in charge of the Agricultural Extension Service, said Friday.

Approval of the loans started two weeks ago and applications will be received until April 30. So far, 5,610 have received loans averaging $68.61, which is about 20 per cent smaller

Murder Mystery Clue Sought Here

Body of Man Named Alford Found in Box Car at Bearden, Ark.

An effort here Saturday to locate relatives of a man found murdered in a box car at Bearden, near Camden, proved unsuccessful.

A poorly written letter addressed to James or Jones at Hope, was found in the pockets of the dead man. The initials were not eligible.

The letter was written at Oak Park, Ill. It was dated January 16, 1933. The letter was signed "Alford."

His age was about 50. He had gray hair and was five feet in height. Apparently the man had been beaten to death.

$12,000 Paid Into Utility Tribunal

55 of 163 Companies Pay Fees to Fact-Finding Bureau

LITTLE ROCK.—Approximately $12,000 in taxes has been paid into the state treasury by 55 public utilities operating the heavy imposed to pay for the operation of the Fact-Finding Tribunal of the Corporation Commission, Commissioner C. P. Newton said Friday.

A total of 163 utilities is affected by the act.

Under provisions of the new law, setting up a tribunal of three members, including an attorney, engineer, and accountant, to provide rate data for municipalities, all utilities are required to file a report showing gross earnings and pay tax of $2 for each $1,000 by March 15 each year. A penalty of two per cent per month for delinquent payments also is provided.

He intends to submit a proposal to congress early next week providing for development of the valley through reforestation, flood control, and power projects.

Kiwanians Discuss Civil Service Act

W. S. Atkins Outlines Ref-endum Measure for April 4

An explanation of methods of operation of civil service police and fire departments was the feature of the Kiwanis club program Friday night.

W. S. Atkins explained that it was an effort to remove these two departments, except the chiefs, from political influence. He doubted passage of the question to be voted on next Tuesday, whether Hope should or should not adopt the civil service plan.

An honorary board is named to compose the civil service commission to serve without pay, he said, to draw up rules and methods of employing staffs for these two departments. The commission alone would decide each application on its merits; and provide for periodic examinations of physical fitness of employees.

A Dutch luncheon was served the club by the New Capital Hotel management. Souvenirs of a miniature bottle of candy-beer were placed at each plate.

The club will resume good-will tours to various Hempstead county centers early in April, it was announced.

Next week various community leaders are to be invited to attend the club luncheon, to assist in drawing up plans for the tours.

Theater Fight at L. R. Is Called Off

Operators Withdraw Film for New One, "Obey the Law"

LITTLE ROCK.—Officials of the Little Rock Amusement company, operating the Arkansas theater, agreed Friday to withdraw the picture "In-gogol," showing of which caused Mayor Knowlton to close the theater Wednesday, and Mayor Knowlton agreed to drop criminal charges against Eugene T. Oliver, manager of the theater, ending a series of difficulties which began with a tumultuous mass meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The theater will reopen Saturday showing "Obey the Law."

Crepe Myrtle to Beautify Highways

Hope Garden Club Sells 300 Plants Through Filling Stations

The Hope Garden club, in an effort to beautify the city, has sold over 300 crepe myrtle plants.

Many of the shrubs were sold to filling station operators. It is planned by the club to plant many of the crepe myrtle plants along the highways leading into the city.

W. M. Hart and Mrs. A. D. Brannan co-operated with the club in selling and planting the shrubs.

County Examiners Get Paid June 9

Superintendents Abolished Before Successors' Pay Is Legal

LITTLE ROCK.—County examiners, who will take over some of the duties of the abolished county school superintendents, cannot be paid by county judges until June 9. Assistant Attorney General John H. Caldwell held Friday in constraining Acts 26 and 247, which abolished county school superintendents and substituted county examiners.

Act 26 provided for payment of county superintendents' salaries by county judges, but the emergency clause was defeated and the act will not become effective until 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

Act 247, abolishing the office of county superintendents and creating the office of county examiner, contained an emergency clause and became effective upon its approval by the governor Wednesday, but it contains no provision for payment of salaries of county examiners.

Bandits Have Trouble

EL PASO, Texas.—Hard times have entered the bandit ranks, too. It took two robbers two holdups to garner a sum of 40 cents here. First they held up H. H. Taylor, but he had no money for them to take. Next they forced L. Hurt's automobile to the curb and robbed him of 40 cents.

Berlin 'Picnic' Is Begun; Paint Flung Upon Store Fronts

Brown-Shirts Charge Through City's Business District

THE CROWD CHEERS

"We'll Take Over Their Shops," Persecutors Shout Saturday

BERLIN, Germany.—(AP)—Brown-shirted Nazis with buckets of paint tramped through Berlin's business section Saturday, stopping at each shop run by a Jew and splashing across the show window a sign identifying the place.

At their heels, holiday crowds followed.

"The day of boycott ordered by the Nationalist Socialist party against all Germany's Jews, coinciding with April Fool's day and Easter's birthday, brought more people downtown than had been seen for a long time."

Each time the Nazis stopped to hang up a placard, the crowds clustered about them.

"That's all right," shouted the crowds, "freeze them out—then we'll take over their shops!"

No disorder was reported up to the end of the afternoon.

Few Jews were to be seen; but the rest of the populace seemed to accept the situation in a picnic spirit.

The boycott ends Saturday night.

Entertainers Lose Out NEW YORK.—(AP)—While Nazi storm troops are preparing to enforce an anti-Jewish boycott in Germany, German entertainers are having a difficult time finding jobs.

Broadway booking agents said Friday night Lou Irwin, booking agent said that owners of night clubs are banning German entertainers, and even German songs, as a pure business move.

"With New York's vast Jewish population to draw on for trade," he said, "the music halls and beer gardens are not going to risk profits by running the chance of offending them by engaging German talent."

Since congress legalized 32 per cent beer, Times Square impressarios said, they have been doing a land office business in booking "small-time" talent who have been out of work since vaudeville went into a decline. The agents estimated that more than 150 beer gardens are slated to open as soon as the brew legally can be sold.

Missing Cashier Is Declared Short

Benton (Ark.) Man in Default at Bank and Farm Credit Agency

LITTLE ROCK.—An audit of the Citizens bank at Benton, filed with State Bank Commissioner Marion Wasson Friday by J. W. Kelly, examiner of the Banking Department, revealed that John W. Ferguson, cashier of the bank, who has been missing since March 14, was short $6,712 in his accounts with the bank.

An audit of the Citizens Agricultural Credit Corporation of Benton, of which Ferguson was secretary, completed by J. W. Johnston, examiner for the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of St. Louis, and John Knox, examiner for the Arkansas Agricultural Credit Board, revealed a shortage of $4,508.64 in accounts of the association.

Both shortages are covered by surety bonds, Ferguson having had a bond of $10,000 with the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York as cashier of the bank, and a $500 bond with another surety company as secretary of the credit corporation.

The State Banking Department sent a statement to the Fidelity and Casualty Company showing the amount of the shortage and asking that settlement be made with the department, which took charge of the bank March 22.

Let's Finish Economy Job

ARKANSAS and the nation are taking definite steps to bring about sweeping economies in the operation of governments. Governor Fittrell is showing the way in Arkansas and President Roosevelt is the national leader.

Expenses of the state government, through the machinery of Governor Fittrell's program, and with the aid of the legislature, are being slashed 50 per cent. President Roosevelt is attempting to cut off 25 cents from every dollar spent by the federal government.

The state and national economy programs will bring about great savings. For the first time in many years honest and sincere efforts are being made to bring down government costs.

This newspaper and other dailies of Arkansas, including the Arkansas Gazette, have been giving detailed accounts of every phase of Governor Fittrell's program.

Slashing of government costs is one of the most important present-day problems. It is good to know that the state and national governments are tackling the job, and will continue to work on it.

Economy, however, must be more complete. The start has been made at Little Rock and Washington. It should continue on down the line to the smallest governmental sub-division. The old saying "charity begins at home" may well be applied to economy. Much of the taxation burdens remains in the counties, school districts, improvement districts and cities—where by far the larger part of the burden always has rested—and until there is economy in home affairs the job will not have been completed.

The efforts of some counties and cities to reduce costs have been fairly successful and highly commendable. Some good results have been obtained. Economy, however, it is a statewide undertaking.

Expenses of counties, cities, schools and various improvement districts need attention. The recent legislature did some good work, but it only scratched the surface. The same is true of county reorganization.

Child Training Is Given a Test

A LITTLE less than a year ago a group of New York psychologists got the chance to take over the training of two newly born twin brothers.

They set out to give all of their elaborate theories of child-training a test. One of the lads, named was put through a stiff course of sprouts from the start—daily courses of exercise, systematic instruction in the use of his limbs, and so on. Jimmy the other youngster, was pretty much let alone to develop in his own way. He got the same food and the general care that Johnny got, but he was allowed to spend most of his time in his crib, playing with his toes, gurgling and conversing with himself in blissful solitude.

The other day the assembled psychologists got the children out and put them through their paces to see which one had developed the more.

Johnny, who had had all the training, outshone his brother all the way through. He excelled at climbing stairs, at paddling about in a pool, at manipulating little brain-testing gadgets and at other feats of skill and strength. Jimmy, as a racing fan would say, finished nowhere.

But the most interesting thing about the whole business was this:

Jimmy, badly outclassed in every test, was nevertheless the happier of the two.

Expert Johnny wore premature frown most of the time. His responsibility seemed to rest heavily on his wee shoulders. He was serious, very much in earnest, quite engrossed by all of his cares.

And Jimmy, unskilled and unworried, kept wearing a cheerful grin. He was no great shakes as an infant prodigy, and he didn't care. His failures depressed him not at all. He was, in short, a perfectly happy child.

Just how much important ought to be attached to this fascinating experiment isn't clear. Probably the psychologists themselves don't know. But any parents who shares the old feeling that a flock of laughs and a long stretch of utterly carefree happiness are among childhood's most invaluable possessions will feel old-fashioned, unscientific regime emerges from this test with the greater part of the laurels.

'42nd Street,' New Music Show, Here

Ruby Keeler, in Musical Comedy Smash, Opening Sunday

"42nd Street," an all-inclusive dramatic musical comedy spectacle of the American theater, opens at the Saenger playhouse Sunday, with an all star cast of noted screen and stage players.

The screen play, based on the popular novel of Bradford Ropes, is said to contain every ingredient that makes for a really great picture. It is snappy, colorful and packed with laughs. It has also a dramatic underlying theme and reveals the mammoth spectacle of a musical comedy show in preparation and when it is finished.

Because it is a story of the backstage world of the theater, each member of the cast was selected with an eye to stage experience as well as screen talent. The stellar names include Warner Baxter, Bebe Daniels, George Brent, Una Merkel, Ruby Keeler, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers and Allen Jenkins, all of whom have been prominent on both stage and screen.

"42nd Street" has one of the most imposing picture casts since "Grand Hotel." Behind its dramatic story of the lives and loves of the stage folk, there is presented a complete musical comedy show, which has been heralded as the most novel and spectacular ever produced for the screen. One hundred and fifty of the most beautiful girls from the stage or screen were selected by Berkeley from 5,000 applicants to take part in the chorus.

A "Flip the Frog" cartoon, and the latest News, complete the three day engagement of "42nd Street."

The Hope Garden club is undertaking a fine and worthwhile task in distributing crops for planting along the highways entering this city. Filling stations have bought 300 of the plants, and are passing them along. Every citizen should lend a hand. Arkansas, with many miles of hard-surfaced road laid down in the last five years, looks ragged to the tourist, who sees only the bare shoulders and severed ditches left by the contractors along the right-of-way.

A few plants, a little shrubbery, and many trees, will make these concrete highways a thing of beauty. Is it worth while?

Is the charm of Louisiana, with its famed live oak foliage, worth while?

than the average for last year's loans, Mr. Reid said.

"This is the third year that the federal crop production loans have been available to Arkansas farmers," he said. "Two years ago loans totaling $9,289,257 were made to 51,867 farmers. Last year the number of farmers who obtained loans was slightly decreased, and the average amount of the loan was much less, the total amount being $4,094,522 loaned to 47,457 farmers, or an average loan of $86.25.

Total is Declining

"It is apparent from the loans already made this year that the amount which farmers borrow from this source will be less than last year. The average size of the loan is now more than 20 per cent less than the average last year. This seems to indicate that farmers are meeting more of their needs by producing foods and feed on the home farm and are gradually breaking away from the old system of obtaining credit each spring for making the crop for that year.

"It will take a number of years to achieve this end, but progress has been made along that line in the past three years. If the depression helps in bringing this accomplishment to the agriculture of the state, it will be of great future good."

TOIL

By HELEN WELSHIMER

THERE must be tasks somewhere for men to do. And coins to buy lamp glow and roofs and fire—A Carpenter in Nazareth long ago. Said laborers are worthy of their hire.

Life still is good—not all the work is done; Fields wait untill'd, tall trees too near the dry. Hold dreams of houses close against the earth—There must be visions of the people die.

PRIDE goes when men are weary with the search, So easily a tired heart breaks in two.... We bring no prayers for conquest of for wealth—Dear God, please give each one some work to do!

New Trial Denied Winnie Ruth Judd

Convicted Trunk Murderer Under Sentence to Die April 14

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Attorneys for Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "trunk slayer," failed Wednesday in their attempt to obtain for her another trial on an unused murder charge. Her attorneys adopted the strategy of the defense in the Tom Mooney case in California without success.

Superior Judge Howard C. Spenkman declined to act on a motion that Mrs. Judd be tried on a charge of murdering Hedvig Samuelson, one of her two women victims, and ordered dismissal of the information in this case.

Mrs. Judd is under sentence to be hanged April 14 on conviction of murdering Agnes Anne LeRoi. She sought trial on the Samuelson charge because, she said, she desired to tell her story of self-defense in open court before a jury.

In the trial for the LeRoi killing insanity was the defense Sunday with their daughter, Mr. and she did not testify.

House of Morgan Is Behind Mo. Pac.

Reorganization by Van Sweringens' Bankers to Be Effected

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission Saturday notified 12 men from whom the St. Louis federal court will select the operators for the Missouri Pacific Railroad company and allied lines, which Friday took advantage of the new federal bankruptcy law. The list included L. W. Baldwin, Missouri Pacific president, St. Louis; and C. H. Moses, Little Rock attorney.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad, which filed a petition in bankruptcy in federal court in St. Louis, is one of the group of roads which passed through reorganization during the war years, but as a result of that reorganization and subsequent additions to its funded debt, its capital structure in recent years has become abnormally heavy with bonds.

On the basis of par value, bonds approximate $405,000,000, preferred stock, $72,000,000, and common stock, $33,000,000. Nevertheless, the road earned its fixed charges with a small margin to spare as recently as 1931.

The present Missouri Pacific Railroad Company was incorporated in 1917 succeeding the old Missouri Pacific Railway Company, and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern. The reorganization managers of the plan from which it sprung were Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the new company was operated under a voting trust which expired April 1, 1929.

Soon after expiration of the voting trust, virtual control was acquired by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringens of Cleveland, through Allegheny Corporation, their holding company. This brought the House of Morgan, as bankers for the Van Sweringens. Into this road.

Railroad bankers expressed keen interest in the effort of this big southwestern road to seek relief under provisions of the new federal law. Probably the most important feature of this law is the most important feature of this law is the most important feature of this law.

It was said in usually well informed banking quarters that preliminary discussions of a plan of reorganization for the Missouri Pacific have included plans for replacing part of the bonds on an exchange of preferred stock, issuing common stock to the present preferred shareholders, and reducing the equity held by the present common stock.

3 L. R. Banks Ask 3-Million Loan

Now Before R. F. C.—People's Trust May Open as Worthen's Did

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Marion Watson Arkansas state banking commissioner, said Friday night he and a group interested in a proposed merger of three banks of Little Rock, Ark., would go before the board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to ask for $3,000,000.

"With that sum," he said, "we believe we could make available 75 per cent of the deposits of the banks now under restrictions. Whether we can obtain that much remains to be seen."

Examiners for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have completed their work of scrutinizing assets of the three banks at Little Rock still operating on a restricted basis—the Bankers Trust Company, the Peoples Trust Company and the Union Trust Company. This examination was undertaken to ascertain whether the R. F. C. could purchase preferred stock in either of the institutions or in a new bank which may be formed to take over the closed institutions.

Maintaining a position taken at the start of the banking emergency, officials of the Peoples Trust Company Friday reiterated a desire for permission to open on an unrestricted basis, separate from the other two banks. However, Peoples Trust officials continued participation in the merger conference.

Matsuoka Visits at White House

Noted Japanese Envoy Calls on President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Yoshiro Matsuoka, former Japanese ambassador to the United States, called on President Roosevelt Saturday morning at the White House. Matsuoka will visit the White House on Saturday to meet Vice President Garner, Speaker Clegg and members of the senate and house foreign affairs committees.

Special interest attaches to Matsuoka's visit to Washington because of rumors that he soon may be minister of foreign affairs, or even premier, of Japan, as a result of his struggle at Geneva to gain recognition for Manchukuo and because of the manner in which he has led Japan's side of the Manchurian conflict before the world.

He will leave Saturday night for Detroit to study the motor industry, and also will stop in Chicago on his way to the Pacific coast, where his alma mater, the University of Oregon, will confer on him an honorary degree before he sails from San Francisco for Japan.

Jim Farley Given Confederate Bill

Postmaster Finds Civil War Banker Had Same Name as His

WASHINGTON—This Jim Farley, promoted from care of New York's prize fight business to the job of chief dispenser of postmasterials, is a sort of a national battle royal, may not be so smart as his Broadway training should make him. He is already taking Confederate money down here.

It must be said for Farley, however, that the Confederate currency, an oversized and valueless dollar bill, was given to him. In other words, Jim can take it. R. L. McKinney of Columbia, Tenn., was the donor of the bill which stood for something when Jeff Davis was still in business.

The reason for the presentation of the bill was found in the signature upon it. It was signed by James A. Farley, the then president of the Farmers bank of Alabama at Montgomery. McKinney wanted the postmaster to know that in those days the Farley family was a big noise below the Mason and Dixon line.
